The Red Planet is about to be spectacular!

This month and next, Earth is catching up with Mars in an encounter that will culminate in the closest approach between the two planets in recorded history. The next time Mars may come this close is in 2287. Astronomers can only be certain that Mars has not come this close to Earth in the last 5,000 years, but it may be as long as 60,000 years before it happens again. The encounter will culminate on August 27th when Mars comes to within 34,649,589 miles of Earth and will be (next to the moon) the brightest object in the night sky. Mars will look as large as the full moon to the naked eye.

We will never see this again in our lifetime...nor will the people of the next 50-to-100 lifetimes!

To celebrate this significant event, we are having a Red Planet Rising, Prices Falling Sale this Friday, Saturday, and Sunday Only!
